possible to install Ubuntu 10.04.1 on Toshiba satellite A300-1E? I tried to install Ubuntu 10.04.1 on my old Toshiba satellite A300-1E, but it didn't work. I followed the guide from here. Is it because this model isn't supported any more?
A: Follow the same steps that

have been outlined in the article, because 10.04.1 is not an officially supported version of Ubuntu. 10.04.1 is officially supported for only 3 more months. In October 2010, Canonical announced that support for 10.04.1 would end on July 28th 2011. Also, to install Ubuntu, check the page I linked above. There you will find a section called: Supported Hardware. This is where you'll find a list of the officially supported hardware. Support for 10.04.1 has ended, so that no one else will have the problem you're experiencing now. Q: How to create a list with multiple values of a specific type (string) in one go? If I have a list of type: [int, string] How can I create a list that has two values of the same type? The result would be something like this: [int, string] I can do it like this: list1 = [[int, string]][0] list1[0][0] = 5 list1[0][1] = "foo" But is there an easier way of achieving the same result? (using Python 3.6) A: You can simply use append: >>> l = [[1, 'foo'], [2, 'bar']] >>> l [[1, 'foo'], [2, 'bar']] >>> l.append([3, 'baz']) >>> l [[1, 'foo'], [2, 'bar'], [3, 'baz']]

---
